The agent page.

For every agent in production, one written page, signed and up to date. On the day of an incident, it is the page everyone reads.

FIELD	YOUR AGENT	EXAMPLE — "CASE PROCESSING" AGENT (SHARED SERVICES CENTER)
Identity, scope and process version		Processes standard incoming cases (categories A and B). Out of scope: complaints, litigation.
Who owns it		The head of operations, by name—never "IT."
Who pays for it		The operations budget, tokens and supervision included.
Who sets its limits		Commitments ≤ €500 per case; above that, human validation. No external communication without review.
Who supervises it		The team lead of the case-processing unit; weekly sample review.
Who can stop it		The head of operations—one person, not a committee.
Who answers for its actions		The head of operations, to the customer, the auditor, or the judge.
Who decides its retirement		The allocation review, whenever the process changes.
Autonomy budget		€500 per case, 200 cases per day; escalation beyond that.
Right to be wrong		Tolerated: a misclassification to be corrected. Never: a mistaken financial commitment or an exposed customer record.
Test set		Forty real cases replayed at every model update; success rate posted.
Indicators		Cost per completed task, escalation rate, drift against the previous month.

An agent's power is not measured by what it can do, but by what it is entitled to commit in the company's name.
